Tribes eligible to receive RSTF distributions shall be required to certify the number of gaming devices using the definition in the Tribal-State Gaming Compacts:

“Gaming Device” means as any slot machine within the meaning of article IV, section 19, subdivision (f) of the California Constitution. For purposes of calculating the number of Gaming Devices, each player station or terminal on which a game is played constitutes a separate Gaming Device, irrespective of whether it is part of an interconnected system to such terminals or stations. “Gaming Device” includes, but is not limited to, video poker, but does not include electronic, computer, or other technological aids that qualify as class II gaming (as defined under IGRA).

This form is required in lieu of a quarterly RSTF eligibility inspection. However, an RSTF eligibility inspection may be conducted as necessary for the Commission, as Trustee of the RSTF, to ensure that Tribes who receive RSTF distributions remain eligible for such distributions.
